IN our many years of experience in growing and handling all types of perennials, we have found that there are certain varieties that can be planted the first of August for greatest success. Taking advantage of favorable conditions, a great deal of work can be done before the Fall season opens fully.

On the basis of our past experience, we wish to strongly recommend this selected list of perennials which can be planted safely from the first of August on. It will pay you to provide space for a planting of the varieties we are recommending for immediate planting. We are sure you will be very well pleased with the results. Our prices are very reasonable and the quality is exceptionally good.

Look forward to receiving our wholesale perennial catalog about September 1st. In it you will find our listing of the most up-to-date assortment of perennials, all field grown.
